

Back in 2002, at the height of her fame as part of pop group B*Witched, the blonde bombshell was keeping things au naturel

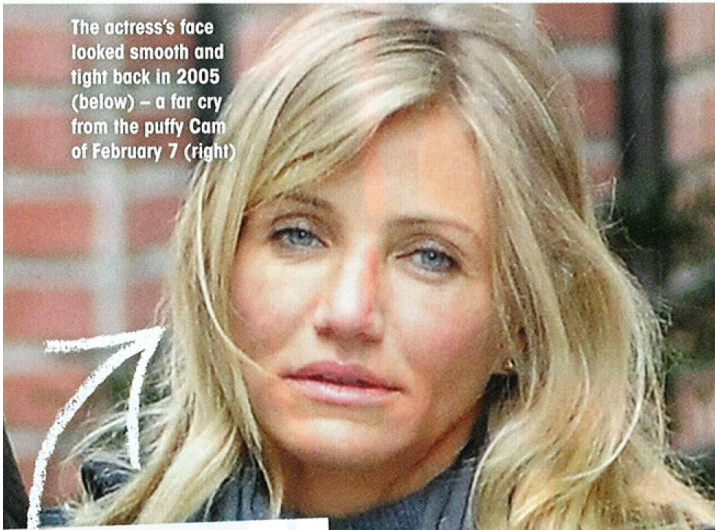

SOPHIE MONK

Having admitted to going under the knife in the past, speculation is rife that newly single Sophie Monk has had further plastic surgery, after she was seen stepping out with visible swelling to her lips and face recently. The 31-year-old has previously owned up to having had fillers in her lips and Botox around her forehead and eyes, but says she later regretted her decision. 'I was advised to get filler in my top lip to help balance it out,' the Aussie actress said. Embarking on a vicious cycle of plastic surgery following a botched procedure to remove a cyst from her lip, Sophie adds, 'I should have said no, but I trusted the doctor.'

Despite having regretted previous surgeries, the star's fuller lips and face on February 9 indicate she may have gone back for more

The actress's face looked smooth and tight back in 2005 (below) – a far cry from the puffy Cam of February 7 (right)

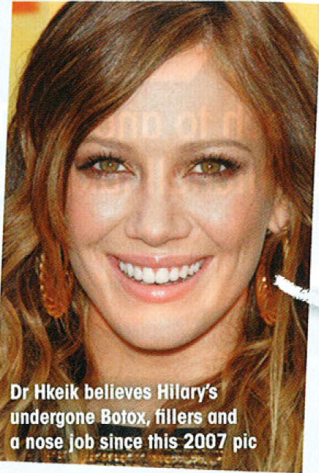

CAMERON DIAZ

At 38, Cam says she's never resorted to cosmetic surgery – but wouldn't rule it out. 'I am not doing it right now,' the actress says. 'But I'll never say never to anything.' Could Cam have been overdoing it on fillers and injectables, though, instead? Her noticeably puffier face of late has seen her accused of joining the so-called Pillow Face Club. 'In [the past], her forehead is more tight than now and it may be due to Botox in the horizontal line,' Dr Hkeik tells OK!

HILARY DUFF

'If I thought it would make me feel better about myself, I definitely would,' the 23-year-old says of having plastic surgery. But has the former Disney star gone too far? Showing off a much tighter, almost expressionless face as she promoted her book, Elixir, in Paris recently, Hilary's radical change of face has the gossips in a twist. The pint-sized star reportedly invested in fillers and Botox to 'make her face look as good as possible' in the lead-up to her wedding to Mike Comrie last year, and Dr Hkeik adds that she has definitely had a nose job as well. 'The tip of her nose is no longer bulbous, it's slightly more refined,' Dr Hkeik says.

Dr Hkeik believes Hilary's undergone Botox, fillers and a nose job since this 2007 pic

The star was almost unrecognisable as she promoted her new book in Paris on February 3